1. There are some indications that the Taegliche Rundschau will not be discontinued whatever the changes may be in the political situation in East Germany. It is rumored among employees that the Taegliche Rundschau plans to ~~to open~~ offices in Moscow and in Bonn. The general speculation is that if permanent correspondents are assigned to the places, the paper itself will be continued for a longer period of time. 25X1
2. [redacted] the Taegliche Rundschau is to express more clearly the point of view of the Soviet Occupation Forces and of the Soviet High Commissioner in East Germany 1. This is taken to mean that internal German problems should be discussed in the paper less [redacted] problems pertaining directly to Soviet foreign policy, particularly [redacted] concerning West Germany. 25X1
3. As of 9 October 1954, there had been no substantial changes or reductions in the Soviet personnel of the paper. The editor-in-chief, Sokolov (fnu), had returned from his leave in the USSR. The deputy editor-in-chief, Bernikov (fnu), went on leave on 25 September. Pestov (fnu), the second deputy editor-in-chief, was still on leave and so was Nikolayev (fnu), the Soviet editor of the all-German section. Melnikov (fnu), who was temporarily in charge of the Foreign Relations Section, has become the editor-in-chief of Neue Welt.
4. One of the editors of the Control Section, Gazalov (fnu), was sent to the USSR, [redacted] and was replaced by Posdniakov [redacted] 25X1
